June 3rd, 2020 - In 1594, Shakespeare joined the Lord Chamberlain's men as an actor and their principal playwright. He wrote on average two new plays a year for the company. His earliest plays included 'The Edy of Errors', first performed in 1594, and his first published work was the poem 'Venus and Adonis' in 1593.

Shakespeare wrote many of his most famous plays for the Globe theatre which was erected in 1599. The Lord Chamberlain's men was a company of actors or a playing company as it then would likely have been described for which Shakespeare wrote during most of his career. Richard Burbage played most of the leading roles including Hamlet, Othello, King Lear, and Macbeth, formed at the end of a period of flux in the theatrical world of London it had been by 1603 one of the two leading companies.
