May 27th, 2020 - In ancient Rome there were three types of laws the ius civile the ius gentium and the ius naturalis Samuel Gregg Ph D of the Acton Institute describes them as thus the origins of the idea of the law of nations the ius gentium are not to be found in the early modern period'

Jus Gentium

May 1st, 2020 - The ius gentium or jus gentium is a concept of international law within the ancient Roman legal system and Western law traditions based on or influenced by it The ius gentium is not a body of statute law or a legal code but rather customary law thought to be held in mon by all gentes in reasoned pliance with standards of international conduct following the christianization of the Roman Empire canon law also contributed to the European ius gentium by the 16th century the shared conc

May 22nd, 2020 - Ius or jus, Latin plural iura, in ancient Rome was a right to which a citizen (civis) was entitled by virtue of his citizenship. The iura were specified by laws, so ius sometimes meant law as one went to the law courts to sue for one's rights. Ius also meant justice and the place where justice was sought. The Romans valued their rights as the greatest good of Roman society.
